FOREWORD

Within the halls of STA, we dwelled, sharing the sweetness of victory, the bitter sting of defeat, the joys of learning, and the ecstasy of challenge. Those moments have left a permanent image in our minds. The 1966 FALCON presents the people, the organizations, and the events that made 1962-1966 worth remembering.

The editors wish to express their deepest gratitude to staff members who have worked unceasingly toward the production of this book. The editors also extend thanks to the administration; faculty; and student body for their cooperation.

Confusion, excitement, and many other headaches played their parts as we completed this venturesome assignment. But we can thank you and your kind assistance — the FALCON has emerged. May God bless each of us.

Judith Moore and James Moore,

Editors-in-Chief

DR. J. T. GUINES

DEDICATION

A light in our lives; inspiration in times of sorrow; aid in moments of distress; a guiding star of our thriving horizons.

A spark that ignited a flame of learning among us; a beam shining in the field of education making us proud to know you.

For these reasons, Dr. Guines, we dedicate to you this record of our most revered college memories. Moreover, we dedicate this book to you because of your understanding nature; your kind consideration and your wise decisions in the molding of our lives.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Dear Senior Class:

I felicitate you upon the occasion of your graduation from Saint Augustine's. Commencement will truly be the beginning of a new chapter in your book of life.

Today's world is truly one great community. New nations are being heard at the international council tables. The strident and persistent cries for freedom and equality ring out, both at home and abroad. Respect for all people is gradually becoming the order of the day.

Undoubtedly, many sacrifices have been made in order that you might earn a college degree. Remember, therefore, that if you desire success in life, you must make perseverance your best friend, experience your wise counselor, caution your elder brother, and hope your guardian angel.

As the sun sets upon your four-year "day" of spiritual and intellectual maturation at Saint Augustine's, I fervently pray that the sunrise of your life-long "day" after graduation will witness a decided growth in wisdom, a demonstration of love for your fellow man, and an active faith in God.

Best wishes.

Very truly yours,

James A. Boyer, President

TO THE GRADUATES OF 1966: AS YOU GO FORTH

You are preparing to leave the hallowed walls of Saint Augustine's, come May 29, 1966, as its sons and daughters. You will have earned a prized possession — a college diploma. This diploma will open many doors for you. However, the burden of the proof rests clearly upon you, not this document, to keep these doors open.

Midst the tumult and the shouting of the world today, you can be assured that the road that lies ahead shall not be an easy one to travel. There will be many obstacles that must be overcome. There is no open sesame — a magic formula, as it were, for success as you go forth. There are, however, some time honored virtues that you should constantly strive to pursue as you move ahead toward life's journey. For your information, several of these objectives are mentioned here.

These objectives, it is hoped, will deepen your purpose, broaden your perspective and develop a right sense of proportion.

First, try to maintain good health. This is the foundation of the "good life". When good health is lost, many times it is difficult, if not impossible to regain.

Second, try to develop a right sense of values. In other words, learn to place emphasis on those things that count most in the long run. Stated another way, it means that ability to "accentuate the positive, to eliminate the negative and to forget about the area in between."

Third, secure for yourself a happy home life, and sustain good relationships between yourselves as parents and your children. Then, too, honor your own parents, as you would have your children honor you. Develop a felicitous manner of living which gives the home, school, and the Church adequate places in your life plan.

Fourth, seek a job in keeping with your abilities, training, limitations, and experience. Put the best in whatever vocation you follow. A job worth doing is worth doing well.

The important thing in this connection is not to be afraid or "ashamed" to do honest work. This is especially important, because it might not be possible for you to get the kind of job you want as you set out. One should bring dignity to whatever job he has. Do it well, regardless to its status. Better things come to those who do small things well.

It has been well said, "work out your salvation" — and in the case of extreme disappointments, Edmund Burke has said, "never despair. But if you do, work on in despair."

Fifth, acquire the ability to enjoy reading good books, stimulating conversations with friends, profitable listening to lectures, enjoying one's leisure through indulgence in travel, exercise, sports, and the appreciation of music, art and literature.

Sixth, accumulate a reasonable income in order to keep the "wolf and want from your door."

A reasonable amount of material things is both necessary and desirable; but one must not exert himself exclusively to the making of money to meet bills in time of sickness or other emergencies.

Plan to own your own home early, and set up a systematic plan for doing so.

Begin now to try to save ten cents at least out of every dollar you earn. Follow this as a kind of personal commitment.

Seventh, develop good habits of living, which include sufficient sleep, rest, fresh air and sunshine, simple, sensible exercise, the absence of greed, selfishness, unkindness and discourtesy.

Eighth, develop a sustaining faith in God as the center of the universe. This is most important in the lives of everyone. Without this faith, man is lost. One should learn early to develop this faith.

Try to follow these objectives to the best of your ability, and perhaps one year, two years or three, evaluate yourself to see which direction you are going. Bon Voyage!

Sincerely,

Prezell R. Robinson,
Executive Dean

I'LL REMEMBER

Each day grows shorter and time runs amuck,
Hopes shatter, hearts rise, time keeps an impartial clock.

Some will surge, others will despair; franticism sets in,
time knows no repair.

Have we the tools? Are they complete?

Have we the desire? Odds are surmountable, Can we compete?

Around the corner lies the pot of strychnine or gold,
Beyond these portals lies the beast or success to the bold.

One hand to the pot, the other in the fangs,
An equilibrium is sought to control these pangs (a wedding bell chimes, a fire alarm clangs).

We experience nights of approaching judgement and waiting fearfully, we rejoice — we lament.

I'll remember the halls, the posters and the clock, the steps, the ivy, the knee-length smock . . .

The autumnal clashes . . .

Blue and white warriors,

The Falcon smashes.

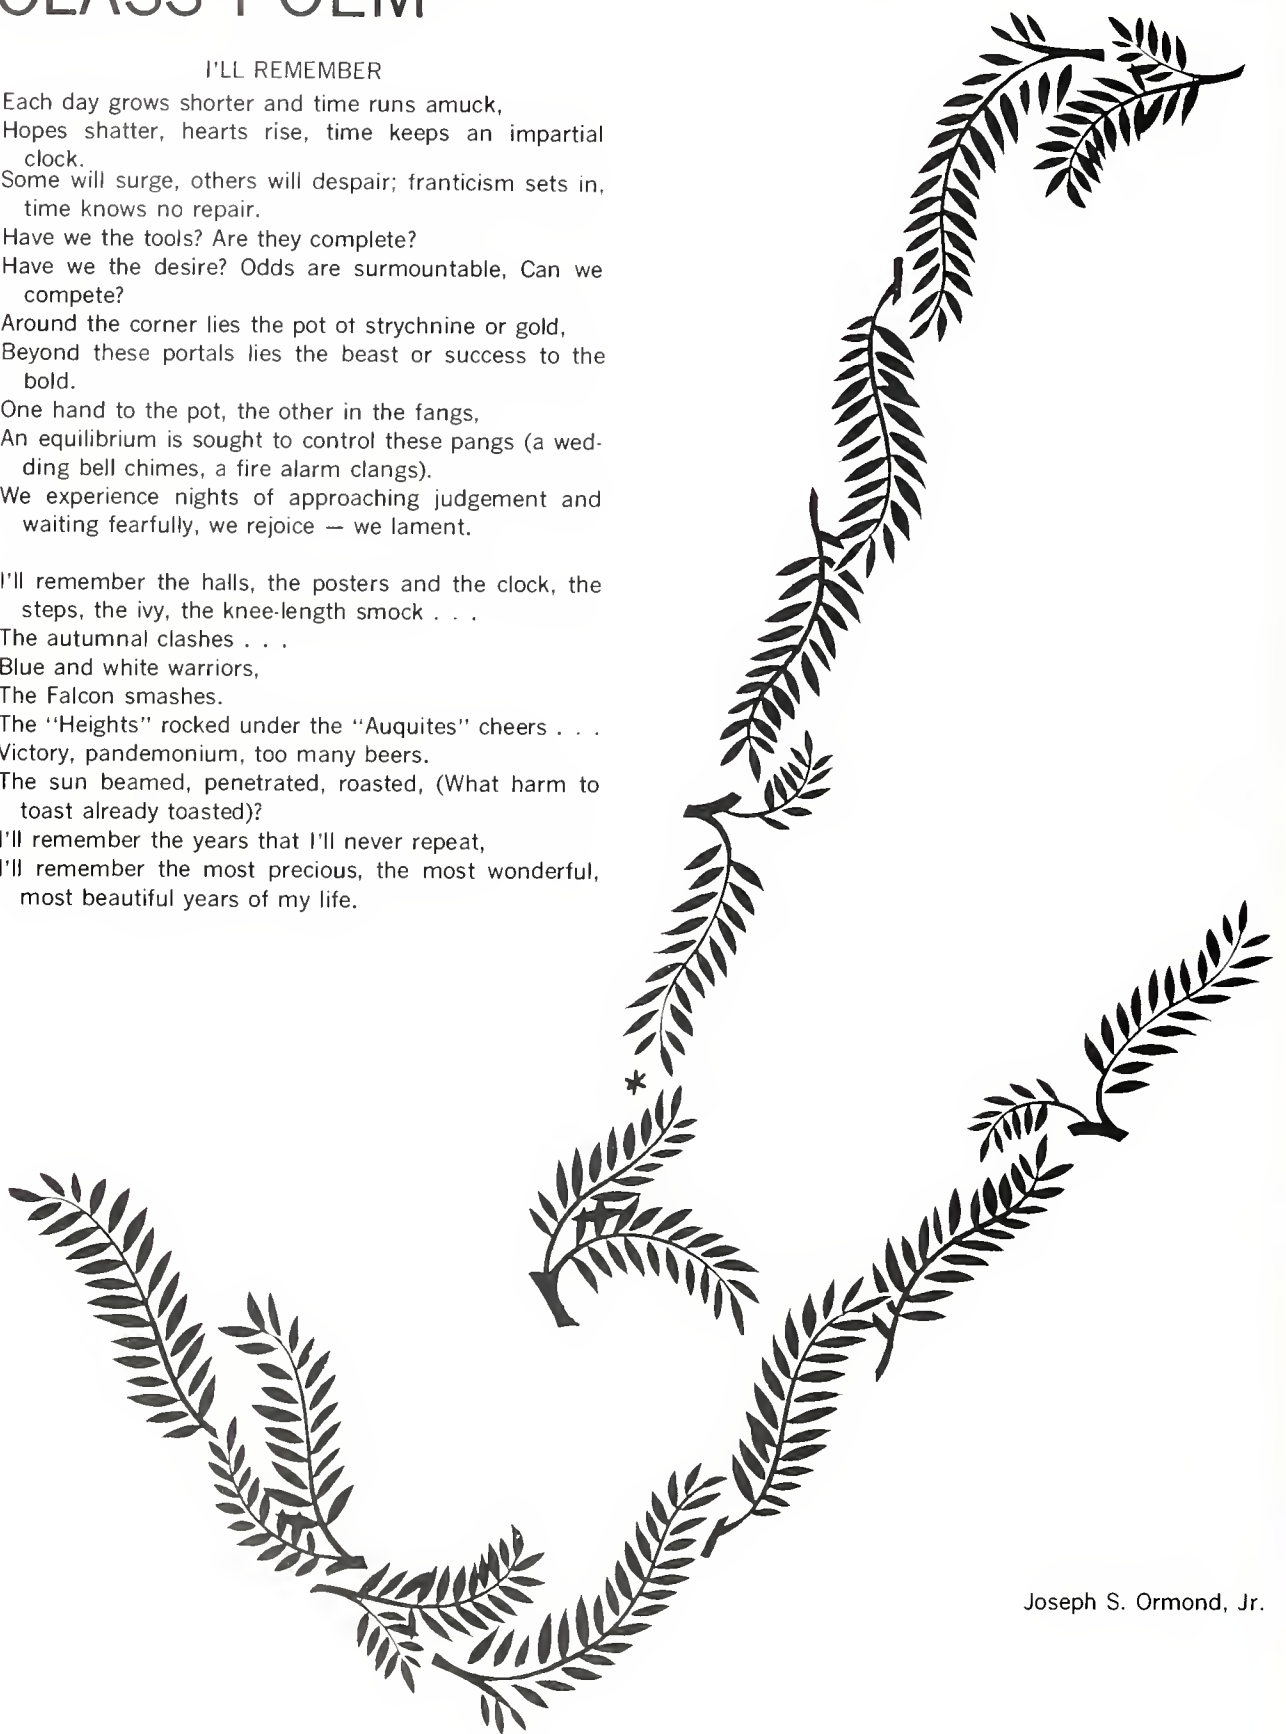

The "Heights" rocked under the "Auquites" cheers . . .

Victory, pandemonium, too many beers.

The sun beamed, penetrated, roasted, (What harm to toast already toasted)?

I'll remember the years that I'll never repeat,

I'll remember the most precious, the most wonderful,
most beautiful years of my life.
